DEER LODGE STUDENT BECOMES UM ADVOCATE

MISSOULA--

A Deer Lodge student became an ambassador for The University of Montana recently when he joined the ranks of the UM Advocates, a 100-member volunteer organization on campus.

David Lord was chosen to become an Advocate for his leadership skills and his ability to relate well to a variety of people while representing the University. He is a sophomore majoring in English literature.

After a challenging selection process and a two-credit leadership training seminar, Advocates serve as campus tour guides and orientation leaders. They also staff a wide variety of events throughout the year, including Homecoming, Parents Weekend, UM Days, the Big Sky Career Fair, the International Food Festival, the World's Largest Garage Sale, college fairs, alumni events and community service projects.
